SECURITY AND HUMAN RIGHTS

MASTER'S DEGREE COURSE

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DELLA
TOSCANA

Entirely delivered in English, the Programme offers a 2-year course covering the main contemporary challenges related to the much-debated dichotomy security vs human rights. The Programme provides multidisciplinary competences (in law, political science, sociology, history, philosophy, economics) required in strategic and high-level innovation sectors, such as migration and border security, privacy and data protection, green economy and environmental sustainability.

LM-90
Security and
Human Rights

First academic year (6/7 exams): focus on the main challenges arising from Global Security (Fall Semester) and Criminalisation Trends (Spring Semester).

Years: 2
ECTS: 120

Second academic year (5/6 exams): two alternative paths with a higher level of specialisation.

STARTING IN SEPTEMBER 2021

APPLY UNTIL AUGUST 2021

- Security and Human Mobility: path dedicated to migratory processes, with two semesters concerning, respectively, the security of borders and the management of migratory flows in the Euro-Mediterranean area (External Dimension) and the processes of legal, economic and cultural integration of migrants (Internal Dimension).
- Security, Technology and Sustainability: path dedicated to the new challenges to fundamental rights connected to the use of technology, with two semesters focusing, respectively, on Privacy and Data Protection and on Green Security.

CIRCULAR ECONOMY

MASTER'S DEGREE

The degree course in Circular Economy provides students with a series of innovative tools to operate in a context of economic and environmental sustainability, aimed at the enhancement of natural resources, the use of secondary raw materials, sustainable management of the value chain and implementation of industrial symbiosis. The course aims to provide students with the necessary skills to be able to operate consciously in different, often heterogeneous areas, but all relatable to the possibility of integrating technological innovation and new skills in productive reconversion and sustainable development activities. The two curricula share a common program, aimed at teaching topics, methods, and tools appropriate to a circular approach to economy.

The structure of the course: Two Curricula

1st year: a common program oriented to the learning of subjects, methods, and tools often used in a circular approach to the economy.

2nd year: two options.

- The Green curriculum is focused on the "green economy": industrial production in a circular vision, where each process is characterized by a sustainable approach through reduced use of traditional raw materials, the use of new forms of energy, recovery, and recycling, the use of natural substances and reuse of waste from other sectors.
- The Blue curriculum is oriented towards a circular approach to maritime economy, often referred to as the "blue economy", in all its forms: tourism, nature, logistics, and trade.
